St. Paul Raps Seniors 6-0 To Hold No. 2 League Lead

'MASTER-MINDING' IS SUCCESS, BUT SOLONS GAIN NOTHING BY IT

Senators Break Even in Twin Bill with A's; Cards Boost Lead.

By HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

To a bit of strategy that worked can Walter Johnson attribute, in part at least, the failure of his Washington Senators to cut into the six-game margin the Philadelphia Athletics enjoy in the American league race.

The Senators gained an even break in a double bill with the A's yesterday, but might have won both games had Johnson not resorted to the successful "master-minding" that eventually led to Washington's downfall in the opener.

Although the score was tied at 5-5 at the end of the first seven innings, Fred Marberry had out-pitched the A's southpaw ace, Bob Grove, by a wide margin. In the eighth, with two on, however, Johnson pulled Marberry out of the lineup to allow Hargrave to bat for him. Hargrave made this strategy look good with a single that drove in one run. Another flickered across before the inning was over to give the Senators a two-run lead.

Earnshaw Finishes
But the A's who had made only seven hits off Marberry, fell on his successors, Bumps Hadley and Bob Burke, for seven runs on Fox's triple, a wild pitch, three passes, Dibrill Williams' home run with the bases filled, Cochrane's double and Simmons' homer. George Earnshaw pitched the last inning and held the Senators in check to make the final score 12-7.

Alvin Crowder kept 10 hits well scattered in the second game to win 6-4, home runs by Dave Harris and Joe Kuhel accounting for five of the Senators' runs.

Cardinals Lead
This double header completed the American league schedule for the day while in the National, the St. Louis Cardinals walloped the Chicago Cubs, 12-5, to stretch their lead to four and one-half games over the idle New York Giants. With the score tied at 2-2 after three and one-half innings, the Cardinals shelled Pat Malone and Lester Sweetland for seven runs in the fourth and added three more in the fifth. Burleigh Grimes gave the Cubs nine hits while the Cardinals collected 19. Jake Flowers, utility infielder, clouted two doubles and a triple to drive in four Cardinal runs and score two himself.

In the only other game of the day, Jim Elliott of the Phillies blanked the Pittsburgh Pirates with five hits, 1-0. Remy Kremer also allowed only five hits but two of them were bunched in the ninth for the only run of the contest. Chuck Klein beat out an infield smash and scored on Don Hurst's double.

BY the simple expedient of combining seven safe hits with three infield errors the Christian Seniors the St. Paul Lutheran softball team chalked up its eighth victory of the season yesterday and retained a one game lead in the race for the Number 2 Sunday school league pennant. The final score of the game was 6-0 for St. Paul.

"Kut" Sloat got things off to a good start in the first inning by smashing out a home run that provided what proved to be the winning run of the game. The other five scores came later but none of them meant anything as far as winning the game was concerned. Don Lindsay, brilliant young hurler of the St. Paul team, turned in a steady game for the winners, not allowing any Christian runner to get farther than second base. Art Amick, Christian pitcher, was not up to usual form, his slants being much less deceptive than is generally the case.

What a Beating
The United Brethren manager used three pitchers yesterday in a futile attempt to check the slugging of the First Presbyterians but how successful he was is pretty well indicated by the score—14 to 0 for the Presbies. Corrigan started on the mound for U. B. and was relieved by Zuppan before many innings had passed. Zuppan was in turn relieved by Bob Tuttle. The Presbyterians collected 12 hits off the offerings of the three hurlers while Snoemaker held the losers to

4 Protests Are Heard by City Softball Board

Four protests were heard last night by the city recreational ball commission sitting in a special meeting. Two of them had been heard previously and were reheard while two were brought up yesterday for the first time. Two were allowed and two were thrown out.

The two protests which were reheard yesterday concerned the game in which Trinity Baptist opposed Lee Street Presbyterians recently and the other a game between Gas company and Silk Mill played several weeks ago. The first named is in the No. 1 Sunday School league the other in the Industrial circuit.

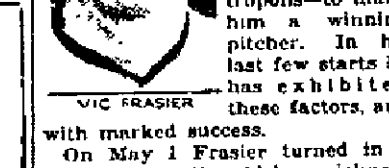

Both of these protests were sustained by the board, the original rulings having been made last week. The Trinity Baptist-Lee Street game will be played over starting with the fourth inning with two men out, the score 4-1 for Trinity, and a man on first base. The Gas Company-Silk Mill game will start with the score 3-1 in favor of the Gas company, two men out, men on first and third.

The protest entered by the K. of P. concerning a game played in the Commercial league with the Kappas was not allowed. The protest entered by Epworth Seniors against Epworth Bishops also was thrown out. The Seniors had no one present to present their case. Only one other protest of any importance other than the protests was heard at the meeting. Gayle Owens, formerly a member of the United Brethren Sunday school team was reinstated after having been ineligible for more than a year.

Not Afraid of City Any More

CHICAGO—Vic Frasier, Texas youth who fled the White Sox camp last year because the big city was too wild for him, seems to have become acclimated.

Fraser, Manager Donie Bush has contended, needed only a change of pace to mix with his speed — and a change of heart toward the metropolis—to make him a winning pitcher. In his last few starts he has exhibited these factors, and with marked success.

On May 1 Frasier turned in a win, but then the old homesickness for Mount Enterprise, gripped him and he was ineffective until June 15. Since then he has decided Chicago isn't so wild, after all, and, mixing in a few slow balls, he has cooled plenty of batters.

CANZONERI SMASHES WAY TO DECISION IN COASTAL TITLE BOUT

Midget Wolgast Also Defends Crown Successfully; Schmeling Lauded in Berlin.

By The Associated Press
LOS ANGELES, July 14—Tony Canzoneri smashed his way to a decision over Cecil Payne, the Louisville, Ky. looper to hold safe his junior welterweight championship of the world here last night before 20,000 persons.

Crossing a terrific right to the jaw, the swarthy Italian floored Payne a minute after the first round opened, but he seemed to tire at the finish as the Kentucky challenger crashed over lefts and rights.

The bout progressed at a tame pace, with the crowd calling for action during the closing stages. The Associated Press card gave Canzoneri six rounds and Payne three.

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, July 14—Midget Wolgast, speedy Philadelphia flyweight champion, clearly has demonstrated his right to the crown so far as Ruby (Dark Cloud) Bradley of Holyoke, Mass., is concerned.

Wolgast punched out an easy 15-round decision over the New England Negro, in a 15-round title bout at the Coney Island stadium last night.

By The Associated Press
BERLIN, July 14—Max Schmeling is back home again, this time fully recognized by German boxing experts as the legitimate heavyweight champion of the world, and a "credit to the fatherland."

"Der Master," arriving in Berlin by air from Bremen yesterday, found an enthusiastic crowd of 8,000 to cheer the champion who proved his right to the crown by whipping W. L. (Young) Stribling so easily in Cleveland ten days ago.

"I'm glad to be back home and I'm glad to have had a chance to prove myself a genuine champion," Schmeling said.

GETS BIG TEST TODAY

EDDIE MAUTZ

Last season the Epworth Bishops (then the Juniors) floundered around all year, playing sloppy ball and missing the cellar post by only the narrowest of margins. This season the same team is battling for the lead in the No. 1 Sunday school circuit.

Too great a share of the credit for this improved showing cannot be given to Eddie Mautz who has shown a decided improvement in pitching form this year. Mautz has hurled steady ball all season, winning six and losing three games to date, two of his losses coming not as a result of poor pitching but by errors of his team mates.

Eddie has allowed an average of less than six hits a game and has struck out 28 men. He will meet one of his biggest tests of the season today when he faces the hard hitting Calvary team on the Shovel diamond. The winner of this game will go into first place in the league.

OFFER REFUSED

Cleveland Declines Use of Stadium to Indians at Price Offered.

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, O.—Failure of city council to act Monday night on legislation to grant the Cleveland baseball club a lease on the new Cleveland Stadium for its home games made it virtually certain that the Indians will not play in the huge arena, this season. City Manager Daniel E. Morgan informed the club that the consensus of council members was that the rental bid was "lower than the city could accept." He added that council had, without a formal vote, asked that he submit to the baseball company a counter proposal "which would undoubtedly call for an increase over club offers."

SAINTS, LOUISVILLE COMMENCE SERIES OF IMPORTANT BATTLE

Outcome Likely To Have Much Bearing on Outcome of Association Race.

BY WILLIAM WEEKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, July 14—Al Simmons who piloted Louisville to the American Association championship last year, today was preparing men for what may be the "or break" series of the season, a four game set with St. Paul beginning tomorrow.

When the Saints went to Louisville last time they gave the Cubs a pushing around and the orons men will be out to win all they can from St. Paul's game lead.

Joe Morrissey cracked on home run with two men on in seventh inning yesterday, to give the Saints an 8 to 5 victory over Toledo in the final game of the series. The Mud Hens led 4 to 4 when St. Paul went to bat in the seventh, but four more were pushed over and Bill E. was batted from the box. E. was credited with the victory.

Louisville slipped back again game by taking a 7 to 1 beating from Milwaukee. The contest was a pitching battle between Amos Polk and Guy Williams until seventh when the latter was injured for six runs. Danny Brown's homer with two men aboard was the high spot in Brewer rally.

Polk gave only five hits, of which was a home run. Thompson.

Minneapolis rallied for 4 runs in the eighth inning to get 4 to 3 decision over Columbus the final of the series. Sports Harris lashed out a homer Charlie Dressen on, to tie the score and an error by Bender mittid Bob Meusel to score second with the winning run. Indianapolis and Kansas were idle.

Break Into Car—Damon Al-mendinger of R. F. D. No. 2 reported to the police yesterday that someone had broken into his car while the machine was parked on east Church street and stole groceries valued at $3.

Services Today—The funeral of Mrs. Martha D. Myers, wife of Louis J. Myers, was conducted today at 1:30 p. m. at the home at 165 west Walnut street and at 2 p. m. at Calvary Evangelical church. Rev. E. Tudebaugh, pastor, was assisted by Rev. H. H. Hoyt of Marion City, Mich. Burial was made in Marion cemetery.

MRS. FRAZIER DIES

Resident of Upper Sandusky Passes Away.

UPPER SANDUSKY, July 14—Mrs. Ray D. Frazier, 40, died at her home on south Sandusky avenue today at 7:30 a. m. She had been seriously ill since Saturday.

Funeral services will be held at the home Thursday at 2 p. m. in charge of Rev. Norman Sweet. Burial will be made in Oakhill cemetery.

Mrs. Frazier was born in Buffalo, W. Va., Dec. 4, 1890, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Rhey. She came here in 1913 and was married to Ray D. Frazier Aug. 31, 1930.

Surviving are the husband, her parents, two brothers, Frank Rhey of Gery, Ind., and Wilford Rhey of Upper Sandusky, and two sisters, Mrs. George Leedom of Marion and Mrs. C. P. Kinler of Cleveland.

DIES IN WEST

Mrs. D. M. Brown, Former Prospect Woman, Passes Away.

Mrs. D. M. Brown of Selma, Calif., formerly Nellie Boyd, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Boyd of Prospect, died July 6 at her home in the west. Word of her death was received here this week.

She leaves, besides her husband and two daughters, a sister, Mrs. Alice Brown of Pennsylvania avenue and a niece, Mrs. E. A. Alline of the Hillman-Ford road. Mr. and Mrs. Brown had lived in the west for the last 20 years. Mrs. Brown spent her girlhood in and near Prospect. Gout, diabetes and cancer caused her sudden death. Burial was made in Selma.

TO HOLD OUTING

Local Erie Veterans To Join in Meeting at Lake

Marion Erie railroad veterans will join veterans of the Erie system throughout the state in the sixth annual outing Saturday at Conneaut Lake, Pa.

The outing has been planned for members of the Erie Veterans association and their families. Amusements have been completed by a committee in charge. Erie transportation will be provided to Shenango and from there to the lake the transportation has been arranged by a committee.

One of the new honorary colonels on the staff of Gov. W. H. Murray of Oklahoma is R. M. McClintock, a newspaper correspondent.

TWO COUNTRIES IN TRADE PACT

Action of Canada and Australia Seen as Move Against U. S. Tariff.

By International News Service
WASHINGTON, July 14—Those officials charged with reviving America's drooping foreign trade contemplated with dismay today the announcement in Ottawa that Canada and Australia have concluded a trade agreement by which they are going to trade more with each other and less with the United States.

The two British commonwealths, after months of irritation over the new American tariff law and after negotiations between themselves, have agreed to grant each other preferential tariffs on a long list of items, ranging from raw materials to manufactured products.

Thus, in a single year, Canada's energetic premier who rode into power last July on a platform of American tariff retaliation, has succeeded in a major part of his program which was to "make America pay" for what Canada considers the injustice done by her by the Smoot-Hawley tariff law.

Canada's first retaliatory act under the Bennett regime was to put into effect a set of emergency countervailing duties against American products. Following this, Bennett went to London and sought to persuade the imperial conference of British dominions to set up a system of preferential tariffs as believed themselves, aimed at the United States. He was only partially successful in this, but he returned home determined to work it out with the individual dominions. Only a few months ago the emergency countervailing duties were replaced by permanent Canadian rates which set up new high barriers against American products entering Canada, and caused a number of American industries to hasten their plans for manufacturing on the Canadian side of the border.

YOUTH ARRESTED IN POSTAL ROBBERY

Tells Officers Newport, O., Home Burned To Cover Up Safe Theft.

MARIETTA, O., July 14—Russell Eflaw, of St. Marys, W. Va., was held by federal authorities here today for the robbery of the Newport, O., postoffice and the burning of the Joe Francis home at Newport last Friday night.

County officials said Eflaw signed a confession in which he said the home was burned to cover the postoffice robbery. The robbers took $110 in stamps and currency from the safe after dragging it to a nearby cornfield.

Eflaw, officials said, implicated a man named "Akera" who he claimed was almost a stranger to him. They expressed a belief that Akera was a member of a postoffice robbery gang out of Hamilton, Ohio.

Officials said Eflaw told them he and Akera robbed the Frank Leonard store, obtained tools for cracking the postoffice safe, and then set fire to the Francis home to distract attention while they hauled the safe away.

Eflaw said he and Akera became intoxicated and Akera left with most of the money and stamps.

Short Illness Fatal to Noted Clown of Big Top

By United Press
MONTREAL, July 14—John Slater, who thrilled millions of children with his bizarre made up as chief clown of the Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey troupe, is dead today at 51.

Slater who lived at Delphos, O., became ill when the circus was here July 5 and 7 and had to be left behind. He was one of the best known fun makers of carnival land.

GERMAN LEADERS RUSH TO BERLIN

President Hindenburg and Luther Head Efforts To Rescue Nation.

German leaders rushing to Berlin today to purchase foreign currency. Hotel keepers in Ostend were returning marks from German tourists, putting them in an awkward position inasmuch as they had no means of returning to their country. The same situation prevailed at Copenhagen and Basel.

LUTHER MAKES REPORT

Returns to Berlin After Leading Dramatic Statement to Press.

By The Associated Press
BASEL, SWITZERLAND, July 14—Hans Luther, president of the Reichsbank, left by airplane for Berlin today with the proposals of the bank for international settlements for restoring the economic stability of the country.

The directors of the bank unanimously agreed to two measures of assistance last night after listening to Dr. Luther's stirring appeal. They were: encouragement of other governments and their markets to respond to Germany's search for long-term loans and willingness to renew for three months its share of the redoubt credit of $100,000,000 advanced June 23 by the American Federal Reserve system, the Bank of France, the Bank of England and the World Bank.

It is understood that the Federal Reserve bank and the Bank of France already are in accord with this renewal, while Montagu Norman, head of the Bank of England, must talk the matter over with his directors. The credit expires Thursday.

Dr. Luther was believed not to be entirely satisfied by the central bankers' relief measures but he probably regarded them as better than nothing.

Dr. Luther made an impromptu speech to the press at the end of the conference. His eyes blazing and his teeth bit off words as he said: "The greatest mistake of modern times is the failure to understand that the German crisis is a world problem and affects humanity as a whole. Germany is getting poorer every day."

"In the present crisis the world cannot afford to lose Germany as a buyer of raw materials and manufactured goods. Germany's plight is humanity's plight which happens to be centered in Germany. Foreign countries alone can save Germany at the present juncture. They must do so in their own well-understood interest and regardless of any irrelevant considerations."

ALL BANKS CLOSED

Virtual Moratorium on Financial Operations Put in Effect.

By The Associated Press
BERLIN, July 14—The government moved today to stem the tide of financial disaster by placing in effect what amounts to a general moratorium on banking operations.

In accordance with a decree by President von Hindenburg, all banks throughout the reich, with the exception of the Reichsbank, were closed nominally until Thursday but actually as long as officials deem advisable to restore confidence.

Both banks and postoffices were prohibited from handling payments or transfers either in Germany or to foreign countries. Stock exchanges were ordered to suspend operations for the remainder of the week. Anyone insisting on buying foreign currencies had to pay cash over the counter. Checks were not accepted.

The government promised that arrangements would be made to facilitate the continuance of ordinary business, including the merchant banks.

Reports on the frail economic position of the Bruening government from American Ambassador Sackett in Berlin and Rudolf Lehn, German charge d'affaires of the German embassy, indicated conditions still were bordering on collapse.

WINS FIRST MATCH

WESTWOOD CLUB, CLEVELAND, O., July 14—Miss Mary Hauck of Toledo, defending her Ohio women's golf championship, won her first round match today by defeating Miss Frances Stock of Cleveland 5 and 7. Miss Hauck was never down throughout the match, taking the lead at the first hole and ending the match on the seventh green.

Marion Man Is Now Like New Thanks to Tongee

Well known local citizen says he was amazed at the great new medicine ENDED YEARS SUFFERING

Among those who are strongly endorsing Tongee, probably none is better known than Mr. Walter R. Pickering of 687 Wood St. Marion. Mr. Pickering is a press operator and has lived in Marion for many years.

"I never saw anything like Tongee," reads Mr. Pickering's statement. "I am feeling almost like new since I got this medicine."

"Since 1918 I had been almost a health wreck. My kidneys caused me great trouble. I had to get out of bed 5 or 6 times a night. I felt so stiff and achy all over my body that it hurt me to walk, and especially in the mornings I could hardly get up out of bed. I was subject to dizzy spells and black spots would appear before my eyes. My liver was sluggish and I was forced to take laxatives all the time for constipation. It seemed like my entire system was full of poison and my whole body was a solid mass of aches and pains."

"That was exactly my condition, but since I got Tongee everything is different. I don't have dizzy spells any more, and my kidneys are acting fine. I never have to get up at night, but instead I can sleep right on through, and in the mornings I feel fine. The condition of my liver is perfect, and my bowels are regulated now, and my whole system has been relieved of toxicity. After the wonderful week of Tongee in my case I am glad to recommend this medicine to the public."

LEGGE PAINTS BRIGHT FUTURE FOR FARMER

Former Farm Board Head Scores Theories of Vast Over-Production.

By United Press
CHICAGO, July 14—Attacking the "false prophets" who have painted a picture of gloom for the farm industry, Alexander Legge, former chairman of the federal farm board, said in a radio address today that American farmers were in better condition and faced a brighter future than virtually any other industrial group.

He scored theories of vast over-production; explained briefly why it is natural that prices to the consumer are greater than those paid the producer; painted a bright picture for the future of the farming industry, and in conclusion, urged that farmers cooperate in production and the distribution to realize greater profits.

"We hear much of surplus production," Legge said, "but I think few of us realize the food reserves of the world are not so very great after all. In truth, they are so small that any serious and widespread disaster to production would put all of us on short rations in a short time."

Referring to the difference in prices paid by the consumer and those paid to the farmer, Legge said: "Undoubtedly the spread is too great, but that is not due to any sort of monopoly. It is chiefly the result of extreme competition. Somebody must pay the expense of delivering produce to the consumer. Either it must be added to the price paid by the consumer or deducted from the price paid to the producer."

The farmer's income is far below what it ought to be, Legge said, but added that the same thing was true of the incomes of millions of other people in other walks of life.

COLORFUL DISPLAYS FEATURE CONVENTION

Shriners Present Lavish Spectacles in Crowning Day of Cleveland Meeting.

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, O., July 14—Nobles of the mystic shrine, in convention here from over 20 states, made lavish displays of their showmanship today with spectacles that began early in the morning and were to continue late at night.

Today, the crowning day of the convention, was started off with a parade of 10,000 uniformed marchers, with bands, drum corps and a manager, including camels, elephants, zebras and horses.

Thirty-three of the 157 temples in North America had their uniformed organizations, in line, with approximately 50 bands.

Besides this noise battery B of the 135th field artillery, Ohio National guard, fired a salute of 20 guns. Addresses of welcome were given by Governor George White and Mayor John D. Marshall of Cleveland.

Spectacular festivities were to continue far into the evening. Under a huge colored tent were tables spread for 1,600 where the banquets were held. The banquet was to be a grand affair, with a program of music and dancing.

The spectacle will be in the arena of the stadium and on a 450-foot stage where a city has been built for destruction by volcano. More than 800 performers were to take part, including a ballet of 300 girls.

While the shows were being staged a contest was going on between San Francisco and Chicago for the 1932 Shrine convention.

American Missionary Captured by Bandits

By United Press
PEIPING, China, July 14—The United States legation today was informed that bandits had captured another American missionary, Lacey Sites, in southern China.

The legation advised said Sites, a Methodist, had been captured near Luang-Ling-Tsun, Fukien province, on July 8, while traveling in the interior. The bandits held him for ransom.

Saturday Night Bath Upheld in Court Decision

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, July 14—The inalienable right of every American citizen to a Saturday night bath has been upheld in court.

The ruling was given yesterday by Judge Rudolph Desart in superior court. It concerned Stanley Norwell, a druggist, against whom the judge issued an injunction to restrain him from taking a bath in the bathroom of the apartment used jointly by him and his estranged wife, Antonette, on all days except Saturdays.

Mrs. Norwell sued for separate maintenance on May 12, and was given the right to occupy, rent free, an apartment over her husband's store. He was allowed one room there as sleeping quarters.

"When we lived together," she told the court, "one bath a week was plenty for Stanley. Now he takes one every day. He does it just to annoy me."

The judge refused her plea to keep Stanley out of the bathroom altogether or the ground that a Saturday bath is a necessity.

CONDEMNED SLAYER PROTESTS INNOCENCE

Canada Executes Killer as "Joker" Leads Family To Believe Parole Granted.

By The Associated Press
TORONTO, July 14—Asserting his innocence until the last, Abraham Steinberg was hanged today for the murder of his nephew, Samuel Goldberg.

Goldberg was found dead with a revolver bullet in his head in the building where he and Steinberg had conducted a business together and which was set on fire after the shooting.

The revolver was found outside and there was evidence that it belonged to Steinberg.

The first trial ended in a disagreement but a conviction was obtained at the next. Appeals to higher courts and petitions for commutation were unsuccessful.

As Mrs. Steinberg and her eight children waited last night in hope of a last minute reprieve the telephone rang and a man reported that he had just arrived from Ottawa with an order commuting the sentence to life imprisonment.

"It'll be over in a few minutes," the hoaxer told the mother and children and they were still waiting when the black flag was raised over the prison today indicating Steinberg had been executed.

WILL FIX SCALE

Merrell Tells Contractors Workmen Must Be Given Living Wage.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., July 14—State Highway Director O. W. Merrell today advised contractors on state highway projects that he will fix the minimum wage scale to be paid laborers on each contract after July 22, when the Robert's house bill giving that authority is effective.

Merrell said the department had attempted to have contractors pay a standard living wage for work but had no legal means of enforcing the proposals. In many cases "wages have been so low as to shock the conscience," Merrell said.

The highway director said Governor White is interested in maintaining a fair wage schedule and to this end a conference with contractors will be held tomorrow afternoon at which the schedule on future contracts probably will be determined.

Georgia Congressman Is Stricken Suddenly

ATLANTA, July 14—Stricken while in a conference with two of his colleagues here, Congressman Charles C. Edwards, of Savannah, first Georgia district, died yesterday at the age of 73.

APPEAL FAILS

So Daisy DeBoe Is Again In Jail In Los Angeles.

By The Associated Press
LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 14—Daisy DeBoe, former secretary to Clara Bow, was back in jail today serving further on her 18-month sentence for theft of an $825 costume coat from the actress.

Mrs. De Boe was tried on 35 counts of grand theft and acquitted on all but one. She was sentenced last Feb. 11, to a five-year probationary term, 18 months to be served in the county jail. She obtained a release under $5,000 bond March 27 on a habeas corpus action. The supreme court ruled adversely on this Saturday and ordered her back to jail.

The blonde ex-secretary ate a last large meal and surrendered herself to jail fare late yesterday.

RETAIL MERCHANTS TO MEET TUESDAY

Representatives of District
No. 10 Will Hold Session
in Mansfield.

A conference of district No. 10 of the Ohio Council of Retail Merchants, of which Marion county is a part, will be held at Mansfield, Tuesday, July 21. Representatives from the entire council will be present. The Marion men who are representatives to the council are Earl T. Smith, A. L. Bantz and J. M. Kleinmiller.

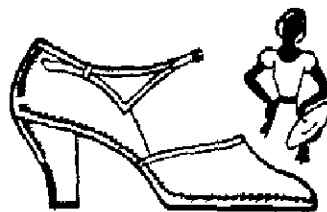

This district is composed of the counties of Wyandot, Crawford, Richland, Ashland, Marion, Morrow, Delaware and Knox. Delaware county will be represented by R. T. Greff, J. L. Sperling and John Wagner of Delaware; while Peter Frank of Upper Sandusky, E. B. Kurtz and R. E. Kurtz of Cuyahoga will go from Wyandot county. Herman Long, C. L. Roger of Bucyrus, and George J. Herman of Crestline will be the delegates from Crawford county. Louis A. Greer, Don P. White and H. D. Miracle of Mt. Gilead will represent Morrow county.

The day sessions of the conference will be taken up with discussions of conditions in the retail trade, and the night conference will be preceded with a dinner at the Mansfield Leland hotel and a talk by Frank Stockdale, store consultant for the council. New problems and conditions facing the retailers are expected to be the keynote of the discussion in the evening.

TAX OFFICE OPEN

Treasurer To Accept Payments
Wednesday Night.

Marion and Marion county taxpayers who find it inconvenient to get to the courthouse during the day to pay taxes are urged by County Treasurer Bert J. Shelton to take advantage of the night collection period Wednesday from 7 to 9 p. m.

The 1931 collection continued to run short of 1930 figures today. Up to this morning, the June collection had amounted to $242,612.65 or $79,913.48 less than the $322,526.13 in the treasury on the corresponding date last year.

Mosquito "Ancestor" of World's Largest Commercial Plane, Now Being Built

The Associated Press. July 14.—The engine's sudden cessation. At last, working by the process of elimination, he came to the gas line. He blew through it and out came one defect mosquito which had clogged the fuel line and thus as it turned out, given its life for the advancement of science.

Reaches His Decision

"Planes will never be safe, the inventor decided, so long as so feeble a thing as a mosquito can destroy the power plant. Evidently, what must be done is to have more than one engine so that when the need arises they can be divided, one for the plane."

Thus the idea of multi-motored planes was born in the mind of Igor Sikorsky, later to become one of the world's greatest aeronautical designers.

Three years after he survived the encounter with the mosquito, Sikorsky built the world's first two-motored plane and ever since he has been an advocate of extra power, for to him the mosquito was a symbol of all the things that can happen to a motor which might spell disaster if but one engine was available.

During the war Sikorsky built 73 giant bombers with four engines each, the first such ships ever to be constructed. After the war and the revolution he came to America and opened a factory in which he employed fugitives of the old regime, many of them nobles of the Czarist court. His first plane in this country was the big ship in which Rene Fonck planned to fly the ocean.

Accident Changes Plans

After an accident which killed two of his crew, Fonck abandoned the Atlantic flight and the plane was sold for commercial work in South America, where it is still in service. Sikorsky then turned his

"FORBIDDEN PLEASURES" COMING TO OHIO

"Forbidden Pleasures" comes to the Ohio four days starting Wednesday. The picture stars Phyllis Barrington, a newcomer to the screen, dubbed "the girl with a thousand faces."

Edmund Breese appeared in the first talking picture ever made, "The Master Mind," filmed by Ed. Lion in New York City a long time before the present-day talkies were a practical entertainment. He appears in "Forbidden Pleasures" with a cast including Rita LeRoy, Donald Reed, Sheila Mannor, Charles Detanet, Sid Saylor, Jack Richardson, Dell Henderson and others.

NEW STAR IN PICTURE AT MARION

Elissa Landi, the new discovery, stars in "Always Goodbye" playing at the Marion Wednesday and Thursday. The picture has been heralded by critics as fine entertainment. Lewis Stone and Paul Cavanagh have the leading male roles. Kenneth Mackenna directed. Landi's first picture was "Body and Soul."

Landi is Venetian born and was on the London stage for several seasons before coming to America. Cavanagh is an English actor. Miss Landi's first stage appearance here in the stage production, "A Farewell to Arms."

"A FREE SOUL" IS GOOD PICTURE

Norma Shearer shares honors with Lionel Barrymore in "A Free Soul" playing at the Palace through Friday. The two of them produce an excellent story of a brilliant lawyer-father who guides a motherless daughter through life with the principal of living as she desires not as conventions demand. Clark Gable gives a finished support as the gambler she falls in love with and later learns to hate for the brutishness under a thin surface of underworld polish. Leslie Howard plays the sympathetic role of a young man in her own social class whom she spurns, only to learn to love when he kills the gambler who has threatened to kidnap her. Barrymore and Miss Shearer have a highly dramatic courtroom scene with Barrymore taking the honors. James Gleason is the comedy relief as flack-man to the inebriated Barrymore. Lucy Beaumont is charming in her few scenes as Barrymore's mother. The picture is too adult to be of any interest to children. A Lucky Rabbit comedy, a bed-time story comedy and newsreel complete the bill H. H.

BOOSTERS MEET

Lakeside Institute Discussed by LaRue League.

LARUE, July 14.—An institute booster meeting sponsored by the Epworth League was held at the Methodist church Sunday evening. The program was in charge of Miss La Verne West. Miss West assisted by Rev. C. A. Hughes conducted devotionals. Miss Ralph Rodgers of Berkeley, Calif., sang a group of songs. Howard Bailey introduced C. H. Detweiler of Findlay who gave an illustrated talk on Lakeside after the Lakeside song. Miss Lena Dale Muhaine presided at the piano for the accompaniments. The meeting closed with a song and prayer.

Mrs. George Pickering was hostess to the Missionary Society of the Central Christian church of Marion at an all day picnic at her home here Friday. Thirty-five were present for the dinner which was served on the lawn at noon. Mrs. C. A. Hughes and Miss Josephine Pickering of LaRue were guests.

Bowling Green grange met at its hall south of town Friday night with Master Everett Harris presiding for the business session. A program was given as follows: reading, Miss Margarette Risor; reading, Mrs. Harry Williams; recitation, Cletus Snyder; vocal solo, Alma Oberdier; piano solo, Cecelia Snyder; vocal trio, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Amstutz and Ralph Amstutz. A penny social followed clearing $10 for the grange. The next regular meeting will be in two weeks.

CITY COUNCIL PAYS RESPECT TO MEMBER

Officials Adjourn After Passing Resolution in Honor of Schneider.

Members of city council who yesterday afternoon, served as honorary pallbearers at the funeral of John M. Schneider, a member of their body, continued the respect of his memory at the regular bi-monthly meeting last night by confining their legislative activities to the passing of but one measure, a resolution of respect for the dead councilman.

Following the reading of the minutes of the last meeting the resolution was read by the clerk of council, Sylvester Larkin, and on a motion by L. E. Starr seconded by Morris Kline, was adopted and ordered spread upon the records. The meeting then adjourned to meet Thursday night.

The resolution follows:

"The death of John M. Schneider takes from this community a man who has given much of his time and efforts as a councilman of the City of Marion, Ohio, in service to the public."

"We who have labored with him

"He has passed from among us and we, his fellow members of the Council of the City of Marion, Ohio, deem it fitting that we here in legislative session assembled pay tribute to his high and enviable career and character both as a man and public official, and

Consider your Adam's Apple!!* Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

Touch your Adam's Apple with your finger. You are actually touching your larynx—this is your voice box—it contains your vocal chords. When you consider your Adam's Apple, you are considering your throat—your vocal chords.

"It is part of my business to notice the types of tobacco bought by various concerns. In all instances, The American Tobacco Company's buyers select that rich, mellow type of tobacco that the farmer justly calls 'The Cream of the Crop' for their brand of LUCKY STRIKE."

These are the very words of an experienced tobacco buyer on the Southern market.

LUCKY STRIKE not only promises but gives you the very finest of each season's tobacco crop. We pay the highest prices, to be sure of getting the Cream of the Crop. And then to be sure that you get the greatest enjoyment, we "TOAST" these fine tobaccos—thereby expelling certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos. These expelled irritants we sell to manufacturers of chemical compounds. LUCKIES are always kind to your throat. Be careful in your choice of cigarettes.

Packard

... NOW PROVIDES RIDE CONTROL AT A FINGER'S TOUCH

In the luxurious new Packard Eight cars Packard provides its owners with riding comfort that has never before existed.

In the longer, lower, new Packards spring action and reaction are governed by hydraulic shock absorbers—and these shock absorbers are controlled from the dash. At a touch of the finger tips the Packard driver can now adjust the riding comfort of the car—"tune" the springs to compensate for the number of passengers carried and changes in speed; to counteract rough and uneven road conditions and temperature changes. The new Packard cars are literally the easiest riding in all the world—due to the Packard Ride Control.

But this exclusive feature is only one of many important improvements offered by the distinguished new Packards. Bodies are refined and modernized in line—newly insulated against noise and temperature. Wheelbases are longer—tread is wider. Power is greater, smoother, quieter. The transmission is Packard-built, four-speed synchromesh.

Point by point Packard engineers have given attention to every detail, every feature of Packard design—and the result is a car so advanced, so modern, that it gives an entirely new conception of what distinguished, luxurious transportation really can be.

We cordially invite you to inspect the new Packard cars—drive them, ride in them. You will enjoy an entirely new motoring experience—for the new Packards are the cars of tomorrow, not of yesterday. Prices at the factory range from $2495 to $4524. When may we demonstrate these claims for you?

Daily Proverb—"Only the actions of the great small sweet and blossom in the dust."

Over the week-end, nine persons were hurt
in local automobile accidents. We of today have some very queer notions regarding what constitutes pleasure trips.

We haven't any quarrel with President
Hoover as a result of his attack on short
selling by the grain gamblers, but it strikes
us that short raising by the farmers would prove a lot more effective.

Within an hour from the time a fine pearl
and a carved emerald were placed in the show
window of a London shop, the former was sold for $45,000 and the latter for $25,000. England also, it is evident, has run-runners.

The savings banks of New York state increased their deposits $15,531,540 in June, and the New York record was not an isolated one either. Many other states made big increases although in somewhat lesser degree. It is manifest that the specter of unemployment is still doing business at the same old stand.

Estimates by the department of agriculture
are that there will be an increase this year
of 5,583,000 bushels of wheat over the 1930 crop
and an increase of nearly 800,000,000 bushels of corn. Doesn't look as though our agricultural friends are greatly interested in doing
their share to boost the price of grains.

The New York Times and a number of papers out this way are urging Albee F. Stone to become a candidate for congress from the Twenty-third Ohio district. It may be safely said that the enrollment of Mr. Fomerne in the house membership wouldn't tend to lower its ability to spy degree.

Berlin reports that the best paid people in Germany are the generals who fought in the World war and are drawing pensions, and that this applies in lesser degree to former government employees, ex-diplomats, one-time
consuls and others in government service in the past. All nations are discovering that the cost of war is heavier in the aftermath.

One of these days some of the motorists
who make turns around local corners at as high as thirty-five miles an hour will kill some citizen, and possibly the authorities will then take steps to stop the dangerous practice.

The floor of the North sea was lifted more than 100 feet in places by the earthquake felt in England last month, and many sand-topped hills have been pushed up beneath the surface
where there was formerly deep water, requiring the recharting of many areas of that
sea. Whoever it was who referred to ours as an ever-changing world knew about what he was talking.

A Critical Time.
The world is working under the most severe pressure it has felt since the critical days of the World war. President Hoover's eleventh-hour moratorium, the financial crisis in Germany, the smoldering French desire for revenge against its former would-be oppressor,
the double threat of communism and Hitlerism
in Germany, and the tottering structure of international trade are factors in a momentous situation from which almost anything may result.

Americans, further removed from the center
of intense pressure than any European people, are asking what will happen. They have a deep dread of revolution and war,
though realizing that the United States could not be involved in another European brawl.
The real source of consternation on this side of the Atlantic is the possibility that the depression may be prolonged indefinitely by unsettled conditions. Americans sense the intricately balanced relationship of their nation
with all of Europe, whether they admit it openly or not.

Until there is no further justification for
hope, the sensible attitude will be one of confidence that Europe has the capacity to solve
its problems in a manner that will bring the best order possible out of chaos. This government has done the most that lies in its power.
President Hoover has suggested a moratorium
which, though done at the eleventh hour, was America's only chance to give assistance.
Private banking interests may do more. In the way of extending credits to Germany, but the government's services can go on no further.

There are times when the only choice of action is to sit tight and hope for the best.
The world is in that position now—the world
literally, because the events of the next few days on the continent of Europe will be felt
wherever goods are imported and exported.
That is practically everywhere.

A few men hold the responsibility, as always is true in a crisis. May they be given the strength, sobriety and clear vision to act in such a manner that fifty years hence a third nation will be spoken in reverence for their service of a critical time.

To Lighten the Tax Burden.

We are not disposed to disagree with the contention of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, that "government fails of its purpose when it ceases to give the maximum of service in return for the taxes paid by those who support it. But we can not see our way to getting into line with editorial writers who have suggested centralization of government
as the best method of obtaining a maximum of service. One of the greatest menaces to the country today is the tendency toward the centralization of government. The crying need is for the decentralization of government.
More and more states are taking over the functions of county and city government, and the national government is constantly encroaching upon the rights of the several states.
If it isn't recognized as an axiom, that the nearer government is to the people, the better,
it should be.

We here in Marion county and city would be far better off than we are today had not
our state lawmakers succumbed to the wiles
of the lobbies of public utilities and deprived us of many of our rights. We of the city of Marion would be in a far better position today
had our general assembly not deprived us of our right to enter into the making of rate schedules for purely local consumption or the right to control the use of our streets and thoroughfares. The state of Ohio would be in far better shape than it is had not the federal government, through acts of congress, usurped
many of its rights and powers.

No, the way of getting a maximum of service for each dollar expended for government
is not through centralization of government,
but through decentralization of government.
The rule for decades in city government—and state,
for that matter—has been the expansion of government, and the manner in which jobs
have been multiplied has been a curse on
those who are forced to bear the burden of it.

We noted, a day or two ago in a Chicago
paper, that in 1910 there were 22,000 names on the pay rolls of the city government and the school board of Chicago. In 1915 the number of jobholders had mounted to 32,000. In 1920
the number of jobholders had increased to 36,000. In 1925, the last year for which the figures are available, the army of jobholders
had increased to 41,000.

What is true in Chicago is largely true
in most American cities, large and small. The list of pay-suckers is being steadily augmented.

We grant that the day may be afar off, but some day the people of the United States will become wise to the fact that they are over-
riden and will begin to lop off unnecessary
and useless offices and officers. Some day
the army of state jobholders will be reduced,
and a great political machine be wrecked as a consequence. That day will come when the government is decentralized and turned back to where it belongs. And what is true in the case of the state will be true in the cases of the counties and cities. There is no real reason why the county auditor, with a little additional clerical help, could not take over the work of the office of county recorder and treasurer. There is no reason why the duties of sheriff could not be taken over by the clerk
of courts, and we are not certain that the
probate court could not profitably be abolished.

And what excuse is there for more than one county commissioner, especially since the clerk of the board generally does the work of the three? In cities, at least in cities the size of our own in which there are municipal courts, why could not the mayor assume the duties of both the director of service and the director of safety? Certainly the sum total of the duties of the three offices would not prove beyond the abilities of any good man.

This newspaper hasn't any grudge against any of the gentlemen filling the offices it feels could be abolished. It simply cites them as illustrations of what might be done, what should be done and what may be done should
the people of Ohio ever get to thinking and determining to abandon the burden of officialdom they are bearing.

Over in New York state, a woman who gave $7,700 to a Gypsy fortune teller that it might be "cleansed of evil spirits" is beginning to suspect that the "evil spirits" made off with it.
In any event, she hasn't seen either the money
or the fortune teller since the incident, and has asked the authorities to locate them. The late Mr. Barnum knew his business when he said it.

Having during a period of six years made
2,500,000 observations of 200 subjects, Dr. H.
M. Johnson, of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, says that only one subject in the 2,500,000 "nights of sleep" remained quiet
all night and that he was heavily drugged,
that all sleepers more about and that nobody
"sleeps like a log." Had the doctor slept "two in a bed" to any extent, it wouldn't have taken
him six years to find that out.

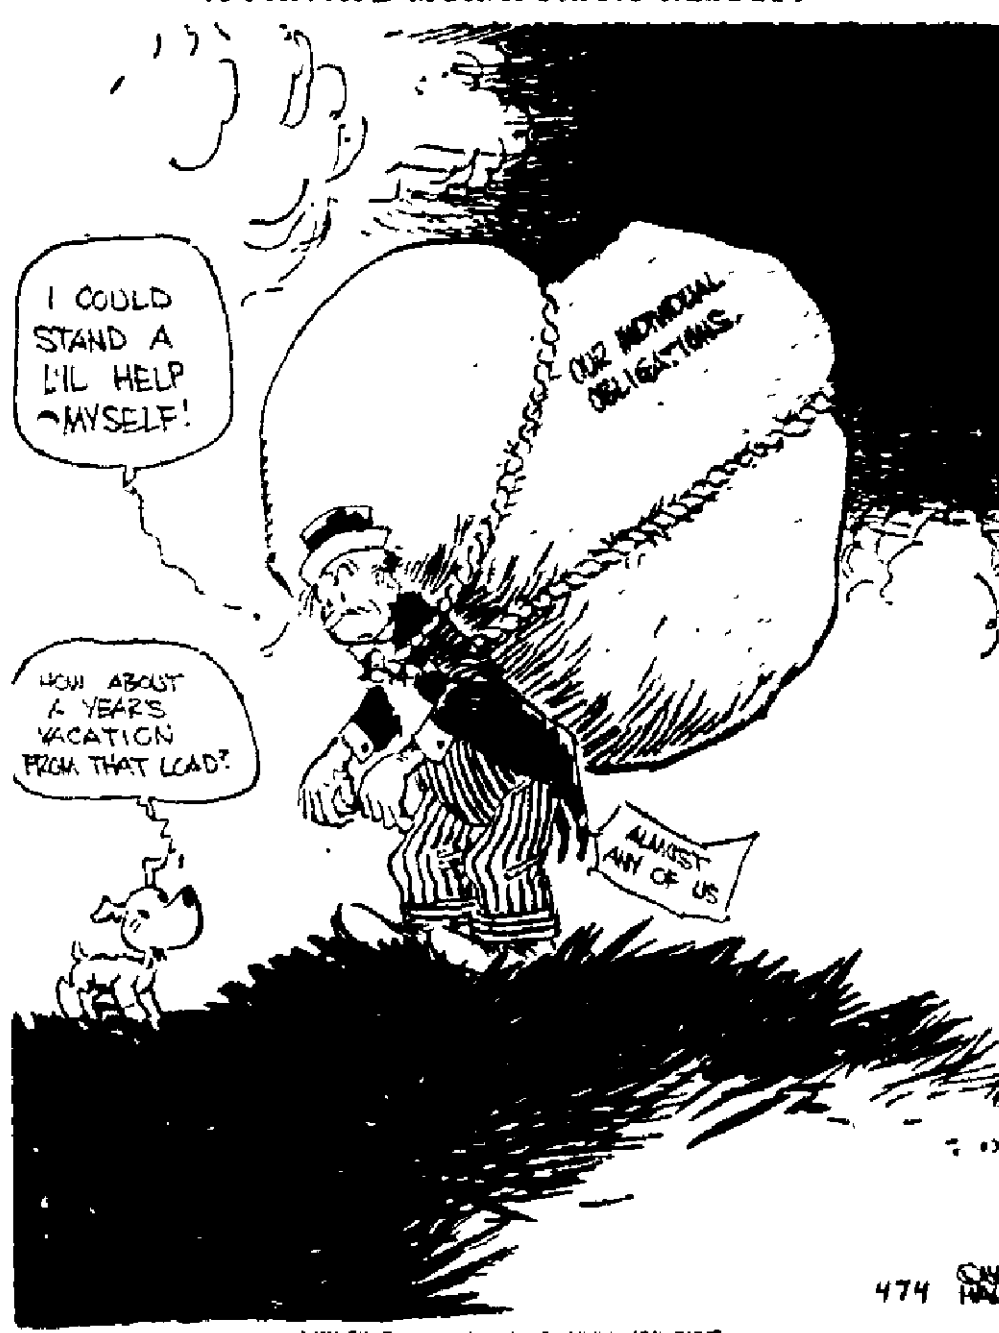

Cornell university has issued a warning to the public against eating the transparent wrappings of cigars and other articles. It is evident that Cornell hasn't an overly high appreciation of the intelligence of the public.

It has been developed that two federal prohibition agents up in Milwaukee took 1500
drinks to secure evidence on which forty-six
felony were staged there recently, an average of almost twenty-drinks each a day. It's a wonder the "personal liberty" fellows do not go in for enforcement jobs and get their stuff
at government expense.

A PRIVATE MORATORIUM NEEDED.

Editorial Opinion.

HUMIDITY.

New York has had an object lesson there
last few days of what life might be were it not for mountains. Extreme humidity of the earth's air, the experts say, would be the rule
instead of a rare exception were the skin of the earth as smooth as the surface of the ocean instead of varied by the mountain
wrinkles that have so many effects on weather.
It is of the nature of air gas like air to absorb as much water as possible, taking on the more the weather experts call 100 per cent.
relative humidity, which means that the air
then contains as much water vapor as it is capable of holding at that temperature. Such completely humid air lacks one of the properties most important to human life. It will take up no further water. Evaporation will not evaporate. The rate of heat loss from warm-blooded bodies decreases. Both comfort and efficiency suffer. An approach to this condition was what we experienced hereabouts
last week.

The earth's mountains prevent this by keeping this tendency of the air to gather moisture from complete and permanent success. On a smooth skinned earth there might still be some circulation of the atmosphere, for the sunlight received in the tropics would be greater than that received at the poles. Temperature zones might exist, air currents might drift slowly from tropics to poles, high level
and low level winds would blow, but the atmosphere would be a stagnant mass. But such majestic movements of the atmosphere probably would be slow enough to permit
gradual adjustment of the air moisture so that the atmosphere everywhere would remain 100 per cent. humid. Man, if any such animal existed, would be very different from today. It is not impossible, in fact, that something like this does exist on the planet, Venus, which seems to have no mountains and which probably has some kind of clouded and probably humid atmosphere.

The earth's mountains save us from that fate. Air currents moving against long, low ranges like the Rockies and the Appalachians,
are forced to rise to clear the rise of land.
The rise means expansion. Gas expansion always means cooling. This relatively sudden cooling throws water out of the air, thus causing much of the earth's rain and also raising
the even more important change of drying
the air. It is this partially drying the air,
as forced to rise to clear the rise of land,
that gives us the day of low or moderate
humidity which are the kind that we enjoy.
Such forced rises or falls of vast air bodies are believed, indeed, to constitute the only widespread mechanism capable of keeping the earth's air comfortably dry. — New York Herald Tribune.

UNEMPLOYMENT IN CHINA.

China would be interested in any plan for relieving unemployment that may be developed by the United States or any other country.
A survey of Tien Tsin shows it is estimated that 400,000 persons are unemployed out of a population of 1,450,000. The unemployed
at Peking are estimated at 200,000 out of a population of about a million. It seems that China has economic just as other lands, and
these economists estimate that men and women entirely out of work in China today, or less than a living wage, are 50,000,000, one-ninth of the Chinese population of 450,000,000.

It is suspected, however, that this is not a recent development, brought on or greatly magnified by conditions that threw people in Europe and America out of work. China did not enjoy widespread prosperity even in the best of times. It called for famine relief and was torn by civil strife. Perhaps it was the difficulty of obtaining peaceful employment
that kept the warriors at each other's throats.
But now China is enjoying comparative peace,
and unemployment is much worse, apparently,
than it is anywhere else in the world. — St.
Louis Globe-Democrat.

Genuine Television.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

The problem of television, or seeing at a distance, has presented many mechanical and electrical obstacles to overcome, of almost insuperable difficulty. Television is entirely different from the transmission of a photograph
by line wire or wireless. An actual image
must be transmitted without the intermediary
of a photographic plate. Picture projection by wireless, for example, merely amounts to the ordinary cinema projection with electric instead of light transmission as between the projector and the screen and is more accurately described as tele-cinema-graphy.

In television as explained by Edouard Hui-viers in "The Book of Electrical Wonders" the light falling on an object at the transmitting station must be converted into an electric current, sent over a telegraph wire, and reconverted into light at the receiving station, so that the image can be projected in some manner and so made visible. In photo-television the medium between the transmitter and the viewer is purely electrical. Correspondingly, in the former process there is a permanent record after a successful transmission,
but in television there is no record; when
the transmissions cease the results remain
only in the memory of the viewer.

For long, television was regarded as an un-realizable dream. Sight at a great distance was felt to be as impossible, as visionary, as
a successful search for the food of the gods,
the elixir of life, or the philosopher's stone.
As John Baird says in "Television for the Home":
"It should be realized that television is not really a question of transmitting and receiving
a number of images each second, for an image
can not be sent or received as a whole. Each image has to be broken up into thousands of tiny fragments and reassembled by the receiver
in a fraction of a second. The practical problem in television was how to transmit nearly 100,000 signals per second, and it was at once realized that this problem was on quite a different plane to the ordinary wireless problem, such as sending signals by dots and dashes."

A considerable number of inventors have worked on the problem of television. Ernest Rubin devised a system in which he copied
the method employed by nature in the human eye, which is optically the same as a photographic camera. A large number of television cells connected with the same number of small electric bulbs was the fundamental feature of Rubin's device. It did not prove to be successful, because there is a certain lag
in the response to changes of light, and also because of the enormous number of cells
necessary to build up even a small picture.

Other devices are those of Donald Griffith,
called the "Telephon," of E. E. W. Alexanderson
with a television projection of Bell and Holwell, making use of cathode rays. Twice television has been produced, it is claimed, alone
by John L. Baird. In April, 1928, at Selfridges, in London, he transmitted shadows
cast by opaque objects placed on the path of light-rays focused upon a single selenium cell.
In October of the same year he transmitted
and showed upon the receiving screen a real image, with details, and with gradation of shading. — Copyright, 1931, King Features Syn-

Riding Herd in Hungary.

BY TEMPLE MANNING.

It is only natural that some of the United States should think of our western cowboys whenever the question of cattle is raised. We are apt to forget the other great grazing lands
of this world and that wherever there is grazing there must be herdsmen to guard and care
for the herds.

But if we think of our own cowboys, we have the picture of at least one thing which seems to be well-known universal among the tenders of herds. They are colorful. Our cowboys with their chaps and bright shirts
and bandannas, the gauchos of the Argentine pampas with their full pantalons and boots
and ornamental belts, the calicos of the Hungarian plains with their whips and "lick"
hats.

We are going to visit the calico today.
East of Budapest a short distance, the traveler will find the beginning of the Alföld, that great central plain of Hungary. This is fertile and rich, on the whole, but in the northern part lies a great uncultivated stretch, a moorland known as the Hortobágy, and there, it is here we will find the calico and sheep herders.

Although there are definite color distinctions between the various herders—the cowherd
ranked first and the swineherd down at the bottom of the scale—there is no great difference in their dress. First and foremost is the "rubber" or long shank of sheepskin. On the side there will be a small bag for food
and breadwork—flowers done in bright thread.
The heavy fleece makes this a warm garment
for the chilly nights. Next come the long plated trousers of linen and the long white woolen coat; this, too, is embroidered in reds and blues. Topping this is his hat, which looks like a low derby with curled brim.

Two items of "impediments" are worthy of mention. One is the whip used by the mounted herdsman and the other is the crook of the sheep herder.

The whips are the pride and joy of the herdsman and they are works of art. The handles are usually decorated in one way or another.

The shepherd's staff has a metal crook at one end and this crook is so shaped that it will fit neatly around the sheep's back leg.
When a sheep begins to wander the shepherd
only reach out, catch the wanderer's
hind leg and he is brought back to the fold.

The Notables Aboard.

BY O. O. MCINTYRE.

At Sea, July 14.—We were awakened this morning by the knock of a courier boat, a spray of bright spring flowers from the spray of a ship in the magnificence of a splashing a calm sea with shining light. The ship moves steadily with a rhythmic sway, it glided I came—tra, la.

From the viewpoint of curiosity, the most interesting passenger aboard, it would seem to be Gloria Swanson. She gives the captain
a spark to a list composed chiefly of Mr. and Mrs. Kahn, Mr. and Mrs. O'Hanlon, Mr.
Combs, Mr. J. K. McCarty and a host of other ship socializers.

Edna Ferber, the novelist, is also here. We happened to be fellow voyagers on the ship
last summer. I hope there will be a talk skimming through the "Mist day papers." I also note Miss Anne Morgan, Mrs.
Rubenstein, and, very appropriately, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Fyfe.

I asked Tailbort, the steward, for suggestions as to breakfast. He indulged a type Gallic shrug and said Americans usually sired the same fare—fruit, boiled eggs, toast
and coffee. He ventured a bowl of steaming onion soup and I somehow sank back on pillow.

Of all tradesmen catering to ocean voyagers,
I believe the florist is farthest out. For Cormage for each day of the trip may be as to Midway so prepared that put on as they are fragrant fresh. Orchids are incased glassing tubes and the last day bouquet is fresh as the first.

I am told that one feminine fare receiving corsage for each day—a total at a corse estimate of $300. I have seen a woman sailed me with the thought of how much a gry that would feed for the trip. O. O. I invaluable passengers florists have diverging
of oddly colored fish.

In a swing around the promenade today
seemed the most popular book among passengers was "Stalin" by Isaac Don Edry.
I counted five copies and Edna Ferber
would have been placed at this late day
know they are still reading "Cimarron,"
saw three copies.

A wave of economy has obviously swept the French boats. At lunch I noticed the tomato-free bottles of wine—vin blanc
rouge—were missing from the tables.

Our neighbors at the adjoining table in dining room are an aristocratic looking family of four, decidedly British. There is silver-haired mother, an attractive daughter of say eighteen, a son thoroughly devoted fondling a thin sprig of amaranth and there is Miss Gertrude Lawrence, and at table, table wines or cordials, but at the
of the meal all, save the tad, puffed up cigarettes.

Miniature golf has naturally struck liners. The dance floor of a large saloon carpeted with a shaggy green carpet
there are eight holes to be made, the
rather difficult dinges—imitation logs, wing runways and such. After dinner
and women in evening dress were moving
the course before large groups of spectators on the sidelines. It was my first view golf in a full dress suit and sports
monocle.

The ship's daily "Atlantic" in its Board's column says, "O. O. McIntyre sending back to the states this and that ment for his day by day column which pears in more newspapers than he can gather material during his deck
endeavor in the later afternoon, so they yet he never looks left or right." They do know I don't have to. I have spies where.

In fact one of them, just came in, ran
his spade-shaped beard, liner uniform an hold Hawkshaw, operative 2Q. He tells that in the suite de l'opere, Versailles, the pansie Miss Gertrude Lawrence, and are enough flowers there to carpet the C Central rotunda. Also that she received two wireless and 119 telegraphed bon vomessages. We are about to give Hawk his cone—or is that the word? I have dictionary—for not counting Miss Swag
messages.

Ray Long, Jr., brought a wan five-year
wording with three front teeth must call this afternoon. He seemed anxious leave and I asked why. "I'm afraid I
frow up some more," he replied. — Copy

Sherman and Palmer Clash.

BY J. E. GALBRAITH.

Some sixty-seven years ago, General
Mason, taking first steps in the movement ended in the capture of Atlanta, and
against military red tape, which he spe-disposed of in characteristic fashion. For his troops had been pressing forward and
ing like practically impossible in Atlanta
a number of attempts to get control of Mason, however, failed. The general convinced that a considerable army was used in securing this end.

So he decided to send the fourteenth General Palmer commanding, to make capture but to place it under the command of General Schofield. He had high regard Palmer, but somehow he did not feel
he was the right man to direct the work.
found that Palmer was a man of com-
dated ahead of that of Schofield, was willing to take orders from Schofield. A no General Palmer, explanatory in character
issuing upon Schofield's command, and ling it as a military order, failed to General Palmer, and Sherman heard the letter's resignation was coming soon. I fact it did. It was Washington's recommendation that it be accepted, and it was ordered to his home in Illinois that Palmer's military career.

Born in Kentucky, he went to where he was a noted lawyer when the came on. He had been a Democrat joined the new Republican party and hard for Fremont's election. In 1857
elected governor as a Republican, and years later he returned to the Demoparty and was one of Samuel J. T. strongest advocates in 1876. In 1880
elected to the United States senate at a elect, but six years later he left the
the money question and became the
of the Gold Democrats for the pres-Simpson, however, a Confederate
cal, as candidate for Opinionated and a stickler for his views, he was never able to continue in eration with others for long, his last Sherman before Atlanta being the stance of this characteristic to come to the office.

Expect Old-Time Interest in Chautauqua To Return

Entertainment Here To Find Favor as Features That Once Packed Pavilion Are Returned; Opens Next Sunday.

Marion county Chautauqua pavilion, Sunday evening, will be the scene of a return to the old-time interest that formerly packed the auditorium to overflowing. A real headline program with the ebulliently all of the old-time features, the program was taken on new ground, and the attraction will be far in excess of any record in recent years.

Two Plays on Program
The new plays, "Her Husband's Sin" and "The Enemy," are the popular features of the program. They will be presented Wednesday afternoon and Monday evening respectively.

Says Program Good
George G. Whitehead, chautauqua representative who reached Marion yesterday, is working with President Karl Schell and other members of the Marion County Chautauqua association to make the 1931 assembly a success. Mr. Whitehead, after nearly 20 years in chautauqua work, asserts that the attractions obtained by the local committee for Marion this season are all of exceptional merit.

Prominent Granger in State Department
Joseph W. Fichter of Hamilton, O., well known to Marion county grangers, has been named assistant director of education in the Ohio department of education. Mr. Fichter was prominent at the 1930 grange convention here last December, and was re-elected state lecturer. He has served as superintendent of rural schools in Butler county for the last eight years.

POSTAL EMPLOYEES ON 44-HOUR WEEK

Saturday Afternoon Mail Deliveries Discontinued; Two Windows Open.

The 44 hour week for postal employees went into effect here Saturday in accordance with the new law which was effective July 1. Because of the Fourth of July coming on Saturday the law did not go into effect until the following Saturday.

All windows will be closed with the exception of the general delivery window which will remain open until 6 p. m. and the money order window which will close at 12:45 on Sunday hereafter. The regular staff of four men in the general delivery window will be reduced to one man at noon who will remain on duty until 6 p. m. The men will alternate on this shift. Mail carriers will make only the morning delivery on Saturday.

Pimples Caused Disfigurement.
Very Painful. Cuticura Healed.

"The trouble began with pimples on my forehead and then spread to my nose and chin. They were red and inflamed and itched very much. They caused disfigurement and were very painful. For eight months I was tormented to death with them. I tried several other remedies but they all failed to help me. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in less than a month I could see an improvement and in about two months I was completely healed, after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment." THE UNITED STATES refused to sell 250,000 bales of American cotton to Russia. American cotton growers will wonder why. We would sell cotton, as Lord Beaverbrook remarked, to anybody. Why not sell to the bolsheviks? At least they don't eat each other.

This week Russia is purchasing 50,000 bales of cotton in Egypt. Our British and Egyptian brothers have no objection to bolshevik money. Are we not a little provincial, in "good old America," or do we think we were born to tell other nations how they must run their governments, and what they must believe about the sacredness of the dollar, as opposed to the comparative unimportance of the human being.

SOMEBODY stole 28 canary birds as they sat in their cages singing sweetly. And having stolen them, turned them loose in the park.

It was mistaken kindness. You might as well take 28 sons of very rich men from their yachts, automobiles or polo ponies, and turn them loose in the struggle for existence.

They wouldn't thank you.

SAMUEL SABINO, 15, sat at his newsstand. A passing taxicab slowed down, two bullets from the cab entered the boy's chest, killed him. The cab went on.

Police say that for a boy of 15 to be "put on the spot" is unusual, but there is nothing puzzling about it. The boy's father had been told to do something, had refused, or failed, and the boy was killed as a warning to obey next time. Our modern crime is thorough.

Boy, in Anger,
Destroys Paper
Worth $15,000

By International News Service

PITTSBURGH—A "scrap of paper" worth exactly 215,000 was destroyed by a Negro boy here in anger because he believed he was cheated in the exchange by which he procured the valuable document for a handful of canceled stamps.

Dr. Kenneth M. Day, a philatelist, who tracked down the valuable paper—actually an envelope bearing the seal of the postmaster of Alexandria, Va., and dating to pre-Revolution days—found the remnants scattered to the four winds on an ash-pit.

By chance, Dr. Day discovered that the valuable envelope had been given away by its owner who believed it worthless, to a small boy. The first recipient traded the paper with another lad who, carrying on the trading adventure, passed it on to the Negro boy for a handful of canceled stamps. The latter tore it up in anger.

The search for the lost envelope began when a young business woman, friend of Dr. Day, upon looking through his collection, was shown a photographic reproduction of the envelope and postmaster's seal. She was amazed when she learned the true value of her philately.

The original owner of the envelope found it in a collection of ancestral documents. One of her ancestors had been a postmaster in Alexandria before 1845 when postmasters in a dozen cities had been granted permission to print "provisional" temporary stamps and envelopes. The "provisional" went out of use when the United States began to print stamps.

Court Coat of Tan But Keep
On Using Nourishing Cream

BY JOSEPHINE HUDDLESTON

SOMETHING that I want to pass along to you before the summer sun plays too much havoc with your complexion is the suggestion that you use a lot of nourishing cream at this particular season.

There doesn't seem to be any question but that most of us are going in for tan in a big way and for one have ceased to urge you to forego the tawny skin of the sun-lan Miss How can I, when I am as brown as the proverbial berry and the season only just getting into full swing?

However, I haven't cast discretion to the winds to the extent of forgetting that Fall is coming and with it the need of smooth, fine skin and winter complexion. One of the main objections to deep sun-tans is that they invariably make the skin coarser and for this reason, I have objected to them, feeling that the source of pleasure gained during the few months sun-tans are seasonable is not sufficient to make up for the coarsened skin.

I've had an opportunity to do quite a little experimenting this past Spring, however, for I got my first layer of tan unusually early and it gave me something to work on.

Replaces Natural Oils.
The use of nourishing cream hitherto has been objected to during the summer months because the natural oil supply is greater at that season than during cold weather. Frequently, the daily use of rich creams such as are advised for refining the skin proves over-nourishing, causing whiteheads and, in some cases, it induces an excessively oily condition. Hence my suggestions that you dispense with daily applications of nourishing cream during the summer.

For those of you who are going in for sun-tan, however, I want to change this and to give you a treatment which I'm sure will prove helpful.

As soon as you return from a season in the open where the skin is exposed to the bright rays of the sun, cleanse the skin thoroughly and then massage a liberal amount of nourishing cream over the

Marion Societies To Attend
Baptist Missionary Meeting

A QUARTERLY district meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the Marion Baptist association will be held Thursday at Radnor. Mrs. Lawrence A. Wood of south state street president, will preside at the morning and afternoon sessions.

Delegations will attend from Trinity First Memorial and Emmanuel Baptist churches. The morning session will open at 10 with a song service and devotionals led by the LaRue church, following which, officers and departmental reports will be given. Mrs. A. G. Lilly of Marion will make her report as secretary.

Reports will be given as follows: Mrs. Floyd Forrey, Moral, treasurer; Mrs. Harry Ludwig, Prospect secretary of literature; Mrs. Howard Temple, Richmond, secretary director; Mrs. J. W. Froehner, LaRue, White Cross; Mrs. H. Williams, Prospect, secretary of devotions; Mrs. Elsie Barker, Marion, Crusaders.

A debate between the Prospect and Fife Memorial churches will be a feature of the afternoon session. The Moral church will lead the devotions in the afternoon and Mrs. Wood will have the love gift services. Special music will be provided by the Ostrander delegation. The World Wide Guild organization will present a demonstration and the Radnor women will put on a play.

The banner for attendance will be awarded at the close of the afternoon session.

The morning session, reports, will close with the Emmanuel church, a report by Miss Anna Sterns, reports of the Northern Baptist convention demonstration by the churches in the district.

Mrs. F. H. LeMasters, named transportation for the women of Trinity here. All those who plan to have transportation have been notified Mrs. LeMasters.

Here with is the solution to yesterday's puzzle.

to sit on a horse. I know it ain't much use, ma'am. I added to Ann, "but we ain't goin' to let a boy like that die without a try."

The two men, Will and Stub, were half way to the entrance when a figure, terrible to see, staggered through the open door. His unshaven face was haggard and caked with sweat and dirt. Between his sun-cracked and swollen lips his swollen tongue could be seen. His eyes, in their sunken caverns, under a dream and twisted brow, were almost closed, and he peered about uncertainly, and made curious groping motions with his clawlike hands.

The two deputies sprang to the poor creature's side and supported him to a chair.

The sheriff ran to the water-cooler.

The newcomer peered at those about him as if he saw them only as dim shadows of people. He opened his lips and tried to speak, but only a hoarse, rasping mumble came from his throat. He pointed to his mouth—attempts to make a motion with his hand as if raising a cup to his lips—and then, before the sheriff could reach him with the water, the last of his strength failed; his eyes closed; his head fell forward; his whole body slumped from the chair to the floor.

"What God Almighty!" exclaimed Jimmie Harrigan. "It's the kid, Pierre!"

The same instant, Ann cried, "Pierre!" and ran to kneel beside the unconscious boy.

Old Tony, without a word, stood over them.

The others, wise from years of experience in the ways of the desert, worked with all their skill to bring back the life that was so nearly gone.

"Heart of a Wife"

By AULEE GARRISON

Madge Takes Up the Thread of Her Play.
Madge's hands were suddenly clamping on Lillian's linked arms with me, and said that I couldn't stand any longer. We must tackle that third act! Ever since she first had vowed her proposal that I spend the night in a cottage to her and to Katherine the lines of the third act of my play I had been in the state known to thrill writers as a "blue funk." It seemed so fantastic and hopeless a thing, this proposal of hers to finish the first writing of my third act before Philip Veritzen should arrive upon the morrow for a reading of the play that even my remembrance of the complete mental outline I had made was gone as if it never had existed. With that fresh in my memory, the prospect of dictating so many words would not have daunted me, but with it gone—as I went silently with Lillian up the stairs, I said to myself grimly, desperately, that my much-vaunted memory had failed me just when I needed it most.

Door of Failure
As we reached the door of my room Lillian released her arm from mine and then swung me around facing her, with her hands gripping my shoulders. Her eyes were misty and her face gleamed, but I could not feel heartened.

"After all," she breathed, "there is neither a quillotine nor an electric chair in that room, although one would think by the look of you that this was your last walk through the little green door."

"It will be the door of failure," I said despondently.

Her hands tightened their grip upon my shoulders, and she shook me slightly, but with a touch of exasperation in her manner.

"I wish I knew what was the matter with you," she said. "It isn't like you to quit in the business like this."

She did not add "and leave the other here to pull all of the load," but I caught the implication in her tone, and reacted to it as I might to a whip cut, not stopping to reason out until afterwards that Lillian shrewdly had used the one comment which would act as a spur to my lagging will and vanquish the inertia which had seized my brain.

I threw up my head and moved slightly toward my door. She instantly took her hands from my shoulders, and, following me into the room, went directly to the miniature theater Philip Veritzen had given me upon the preceding Christmas. Katherine had left its lights turned on—there was no omitted detail in the completeness of Philip Veritzen's gift—and the tiny doll actors were in the wings as we had left them when Lillian's triumphant gibe to an absent mentor—"That's the time we scored on you, Mr. Philip Veritzen," had died abruptly at the sound of the motor horn which signalled the arrival of the Veritzens and their guests.

Katherine was not in the room, but she evidently had heard us coming up the stairs for she appeared at the door just as Lillian put her hand upon the absurd little asbestos curtain with which Philip Veritzen had provided the theater.

"Curtain just rising?" she queried.

"At once!" Lillian said briskly, taking up Philip Veritzen's role of director where she had laid it down upon his unexpected arrival. "Come on in and take that carbon copy away from Madge. She doesn't need it, she remembers every comma in the darned thing, and I want you to read half the roles. Madge will take the others, and I'll do the heavy directing, bowing out and all the rest of it. Madge you'll have to prompt the actors gently but firmly from place to place, for you're the only one who knows where they belong."

Said from Interruption
Her comment upon my "quitting in the harness" had spurred me into action, but this direction gave me my first ray of hope. I saw what, in my mother-in-law's parlance, she was "up to," and I voiced my thought questioningly. "You want us to run through the first two acts before getting to work on the third?"

"What else?" she retorted. "There's everything in acting the binges!"

A curf board has been designed that can be operated by an outboard motor.

Just as we were getting on our way, the motor on the curf board broke down, and we were forced to stop. The curf board was a great help, but it was not perfect.

I don't believe I'll ever be a writer. I'm just a man who likes to write. I'm just a man who likes to write.
